ECOCOWELL OPEN NETWORKING

EcCoWell Cork hosts an Open Networking event, an opportunity for those working to improve the quality of life for Cork's citizens to inform others about their activities.

Among the projects featured will be: The UNESCO Beijing Declaration on Building Learning Cities; SMART Cities; European Green Capital; Cork as an Age Friendly City; Cork as a City of Scientific Discovery; Cork as a City of Music.

Come along & find out about the 'what' & the 'who' of these and other initiatives, and how they are progressing.

EcCoWell is an integrated approach to deliver better quality of life to citizens in a sustainable way. The concept has been developed out of work done by the OECD & PASCAL International Exchanges (PIE) on lifelong learning. It promotes building on areas of common interest. It brings together Ecology & Economy (Ec), Community & Culture (Co) with Well-being & Lifelong Learning & encourages communication & co-operation between the different sectors.

FORK TO FORK, LIKE!

Food is something we all need: some of us grow it, more of us can cook it very well & all of us enjoy eating our favourite foods.

This year Togher Ballyphehane Community Education Network concentrates on food & its journey from the garden fork to our table fork, with a mention too for food as fuel to keep us healthy and active. All welcome to an Open Morning with performances, demonstrations, information talks, activities and information stands.

Highlights

In the mood for food: Musical and dance contributions from local Early Years centres, schools & groups on the theme of food.

Food in the nude: Still Life Art Class on painting food.

Food in the ground – talk on organic gardening and growing your own food.

Heritage farming with a horse outside!

Incredible edibles – two cookery demonstrations with samples for everyone.

THE FREE UNIVERSITY: ACE AT UCC PUBLIC LECTURE PROGRAMME

3pm – 4pm

SUSTAINABILITY & PROGRESS

Dr Edmond Byrne, School of Engineering, & Dr Ger Mullally, Department of Sociology, UCC, explain contested views of Sustainability & Progress in a presentation entitled Building Adaptability, Resilience & Creativity into Complex Social Systems.

Today the values of efficiency, control & growth have been central to a particular conception of progress, stemming from a reductionist & monist view. It sees the optimisation of social & technical systems as a result of a linear march towards perfection. An alternative view of system sustainability is as an evolutionary process amid ever changing flux. Using the example of controversies around energy infrastructure development in electricity in Ireland, their lecture considers how we might rethink sustainability & progress to address the increasing complexity & emergent challenges of the 21st century.

4pm – 5pm

INDIA'S ECONOMIC MIRACLE – WHO DOES IT SERVE?

Michael Murphy, Department of Management & Marketing, UCC, looks at the recent rapid economic rise of India, which has led to the world's largest democracy being grouped among the world's fastest-growing 'BRIC' nations. He asks who is being served by such growth: India has more billionaires than the UK & Japan combined; but is criticised by the UN for having some of the highest child malnourishment rates in the world.

5pm – 6pm

FROM SLAVERY TO PRESIDENCY: AMERICA'S BATTLE WITH RACISM

Anthony Angelini of ACE explores issues of race through the prism of the anti-slavery movement in America in the 19th century. The Civil Rights movement of the 1960s & the election & re-election of Barack Obama will also be discussed. His illustrated lecture also looks at the social situation & the impact of literature, art & film in breaking down barriers between black & white.

Lecture Series continues until Friday. Unless bringing a group, no need to book. Info: 490 4700 email: ace@ucc.ie www.ucc.ie/en/study/ace
